High School District Votes State Aid Tuesday

Planners To Act on Zoning

City Planners tonight will move another step toward the eventual zone change from light industrial to commercial of the area on the west side of San Jose-Los Gatos Road between Hamilton and Campbell avenues.

At the regular meeting of the City Planning Commission at 7:30 p. m., at the Country Woman's Club the time for the public hearing on the zone change will be set. The area involved extends from the northerly city limits to a point opposite Ridgely Drive. More than 126 residents on the east side of San Jose-Los Gatos Road petitioned for a zone change. However, they asked the entire area be changed from Hamilton to Campbell avenues.

The Planning Commission only recommended that part of the area be rezoned. The City ouncil concurred with the recommendation.

A public hearing will also be held tonight on the zone change from residential to commercial for an area along the east side of Winchester Road extending from the Assembly of God Church property to Latimer Ave.

The property to be rezoned involves that property recently involved in a "trade" between the church and Myron English. It also includes that site now occupied by a nursery on the corner of Latimer and Winchester. The action stems from the original request of English. He owned a lot between two properties owned by the church and had requested it be changed to commercial from residential so he could erect an office building on it. The trade between him and the church was then worked out.

Because of a lack of a 2/3 majority vote of the commissioners at their last meeting on the application of Camp and Sondeno for a zone change in the Sunberry Gardens, further discussion on this matter is also on tap tonight.

Another public hearing set for tonight is on the application of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Burda for a zone change from residential to light industrial for their property at 60 Missiona Way. This property was formerly occupied by the Campbell Hatchery. It is contemplated a wood-working establishment be located there.

Also on the agenda tonight will be the request by M. Tock for architectural approval for a three-unit dwelling on his property at E. Campbell, just off San Jose-Los Gatos Road. The Commission previously had granted the use permit for such a building but had denied a zone variance that was also necessary. Subsequently the City Council overruled the commissioners and granted the variance.

Harris Blasts Tactics Of School Heads Here

Scarcely had the votes in Tuesday's Primary Election been tabulated when the successful Democratic standard-bearer for the 29th Assembly Districa, William Harris, accused local school district officials of "unethical campaigning" on the behalf of his opponent, Bruce Allen, incumbent assemblyman, Republican nominee.

The blast by Harris indicates that the Campbell area will be the battlefield for bitter campaigning for the November election. He told The Press that he would endeavor to carry his appeal to the parents in the district in the ensuing campaign. He also said he felt doubly aroused over the situation because his oldest son will enter kindergarten in the Hamilton School of the Campbell district next fall.

This potential fireworks in the aftermath to the primary campaign enlivened the otherwise rather routine results of Tuesday's vote. If the experts were surprised on any point statewide it was because of the strength of the Democrats who managed to carry their own tickets almost across the board.

The county vote followed the state-wide trend with the Adlai Stevenson getting 35,154 to 17,562 for Estes Kefauver and Thomas Kuchel getting the Republican nod for U. S. Senate with 45,837 votes and Richard Richards winning the Democratic side (he did not cross-file) with 18,733 votes to Yorty's 12,349 and Kuche's 15,341.

Gubser High

U. S. Representative Charles Gubser took the Republican honors in the county with 47,862 votes, swamping his Democratic opponent William H. Vatcher, a San Jose State professor who had 3250. However, Vatcher led Gubser on the Democratic side 32,088 to 29,088. Gubser, however, won both the Democratic and Republican tickets in the other two counties in his district, Santa Cruz and Sen Benito.

Wesley L. (Bud) Hubbard, Palo Alto lumberman won over Mrs. Mildred Corcoran, Palo Alto councilwoman and school teacher, in Supervisorial District No. 5 which includes a fringe area of Campbell. Chairman of the board Sam Della Maggiore defeated his opponent in Supervisorial District No. 2 while Ed Levin, incumbent in Supervisorial District No. 3 garnered more votes than all three of his opponents.

Clark Bradley, the county's other Assemblyman (28th district) was unopposed for the Republican nomination but lost to Allen, Isaksen, Palo Alto contractor, on the Democratic side and this faces a runoff in November.

Bombshell Here

But it was the 29th Assembly District post-election bombshell that stirred up the most interest for the voters in this area.

Allen walked away with the Republican vote 16,046 to 1636 for Harris but Harris turned the tables on the Democratic ballot and gathered 15,116 to 6875 for Allen.

Harris was specific in his criticism of Campbell area school of-

Annexation of 50 Acres Goes Before Council

Campbell will probably grow by more than 50 acres at the next City Council meeting, June 18, provided the city manager and city attorney find no faults with the petition for annexation of the parcel that was presented to the City Council on Monday night.

This was indicated Monday night when Sam Cava, secretary-manager of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce, who has been instrumental in obtaining the necessary signatures of the property owners involved, presented the petition of annexation to the Council.

Big Percentage

The petition showed that 96 per cent of the property owners of the area favored joining Campbell. Observers of the dog-eat-dog attitude on the part of the cities battling on the annexation fronts emphasize that this high percentage is virtually unprecedented. They attribute the businesslike presentation of Cava to the property owners as the main reason for such favorable percentage. The C. of C., under Cava's direction, outlined the advantages tax-wise in joining Campbell rather than coming under the "protective" wing of San Jose.

The annexation, tabbed Campbell 1956-2 was referred by the City Council to the engineer and attorney basically to verify the number of registered voters in the area. The registrar of voters in an accompanying letter to the petition reported only four voters as of June 1. If there are less than 12 voters, no election is necessary. The Council wanted to be sure that no one had registered between June 1 and June 4, the time the petition was filed. There are 16 property owners in the territory.

The area joins the southern city limits just south of the Campbell Lumber Co. and extends along Winchester Road to Camden Ave., and then takes in a strip 205-feet wide south of Dell along the railroad track to E. Parr Ave. Those favoring the move claim that the entire section lends itself to becoming an industrial area.

Other Actions

In other actions Monday night, the City Council,

1. Adopted for publication three ordinances, No. 97, plumbing code; No. 98, annexation of 3.7 acres on the southwest corner of Union and Campbell owned by Mr. and Mrs. Tobia Salciccia and No. 99, establishing sectional district 24 as a M-1-S zone.

One Negative Vote

Councilman Jim Arends cast the lone negative vote on No. 99 maintaining that a study of the entire area should be made with the purpose of changing the zone of all the area. Section 24 extends south of Kennedy Ave., and west of the railroad tracks to Winchester Road. Arends reminded the Council members that they had turned down the application of Joseph Russo for a M-1 zone on Whitehall St. close to this section because it was "spot zoning" in a residential zone. He felt the cases were similar.

Councilman Richard Morton emphasized that the ordinance was only recognizing the use the area was being put to at the present time and that the section in question was not in a residential area as was the Russo situation.

He agreed, however, that the Planning Commission should reconsider the zoning of that area and also others adjacent to it, areas that might in the future become part of Campbell. The Council by letter instructed the Planning Commission in that respect.

Sell House

2. Accepted the offer of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Blue of $1600 for the house owned by the city at Winchester and Hamilton. City Attorney Joseph Bonacina handled the negotiations for the sale on an individual basis, after no bids were received by the Council at the last meeting. The Blues must move the house off the lot which is in the way of the Hamilton Ave. widening project.

WHERE TO VOTE

Polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 7 p.m. in the following precincts next Tuesday, June 12, in the election in the Campbell Union High School District to accept $1,500,000 in state aid:

Burbank Elementary School, W. San Carlos St., San Jose; Cambrian Elementary School, San Jose-Los Gatos Road, Campbell; Campbell High School, W. Campbell Ave., Campbell; Cypress Elementary School, 403 S. Cypress, San Jose; El Quito Park Elementary School, 18720 Bucknall Road, Saratoga; Hamilton Elementary School, 336 E. Hamilton, Campbell; Moorpark Elementary School, 649 Thornton Way, San Jose.

Moreland Elementary School, Payne Ave., and Saratoga Road, Saratoga; Parker Elementary School, Union Ave., Campbell; Quito Elementary School, 500 Quito Road, Campbell; San Tomas Elementary School, 1100 Hacienda, Campbell; Union Elementary School, 15230 Los Gatos-Almaden Road, Los Gatos.

Voters in the Campbell Union High School District, fresh from their visit to the polls in Tuesday's Primary Election, will return to the polls again next Tuesday, June 12, when they ballot for the first time on the acceptance of $1,500,000 in state aid for the district. The state money is needed to purchase three more school sites.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. and there will be 12 election precincts in the district, 11 located in various elementary schools and the other at the Campbell High School.

Bargain Price

Using as their theme, "Everybody Loves a Bargain, Let's Not Miss This one—Vote to Accept State Aid", citizen committees from the 12 precincts, under the chairmanship of Joe Gomes, have staged a concerted drive to acquaint the voters in the district with the necessity of receiving state aid.

The committee members emphasize that population surveys of the district, indicate that three new high schools will be needed in the district within the next five years.

They point out that the assessed valuation of the district is insufficient to raise funds to maintain and operate the present two schools and purchase new sites at the same time. They feel that the sites can be purchased now at less money than in a few years hence when the area is developed more extensively.

At the present time, there are 7059 new homes definitely planned in the district with an additional 2078 now under construction. Superintendent Laurance Hill estimates that by September, 1958, plans for new schools must be complete unless the facilities and classes at the district's present schools, Camden and Campbell, are to be overtaxed.

State Approves

The State Allocations Board has already approved, subject to Tuesday's vote, a loan of $230,000 for the purchase of one of the three sites that will be needed. These funds will be used to purchase a 53-acre site west of the corner of Lovell and Harriett avenues along the San Tomas Aquino Creek. The two other sites that will be needed to provide for the potential increase in enrollment by 1960 will probably be located in the northeast and northwest portions of the district.

Although these sites have not yet been selected, Hill feels that construction of all three new high schools may have to be started at the same time.

The State Aid program was set up in 1952 to provide assistance to school districts to provide necessary school sites, buildings and certain equipment where the district cannot finance such facilities with its own resources. The assessed valuation of the high school district, school officials find, is insufficient to raise funds for the maintaining and operating the schools and at the same time purchase more sites. The local district has qualified for State Aid because it is now bonded to capacity and still faces the pressing need of more facilities.

District officials feel that it is not wise to wait any longer than necessary to acquire additional property in face of the spiraling values.

For the first time they have asked the voters in the district to take advantage of the program for, as they say, "everybody loves a bargain".

ROTARY SEES RIVER BOAT TRIP FILMS

"A Trip to Somewhere", a colored film of Ralph and Maude Hyde's river boat trip last fall, was Ralph's contribution to the Rotary Club program at last Monday's meeting.

Starting in Cincinnati, the Hydes boarded the river boat and traveled down the Ohio River until it merged with the "Mighty Mississippi". They continued on down the Mississippi to the Gulf of Mexico. From New Orleans, after a sightseeing trip, they drove back to California and home.

GRADUATION ISSUE

Next week the Campbell Press will present it's special graduation issue in which the commencement programs and graduates will be listed.

COUNCIL DENIES PERMIT FOR SALE OF FIREWORKS

There will be no fireworks sold at the intersection of Hamilton Ave. and the San Jose-Los Gatos Road during the Fourth of July season the Campbell City Council ruled Monday night.

Paul Knoll, who is now operating a cherry stand at the location, on a temporary permit was denied a permit by the City Fathers to erect a stand and sell firecrackers and other traditional Independence Day explosive noise-makers from June 28 through July 4.

The Council claimed that the corner presents a traffic hazard even without any concession located on it and a stand would add to its problems. Council members also noted that the cherry stand now located there had not met all the requirements that had been specified by the city.

Four other permits for the sale of fireworks within the city limits were granted, however, by the Council after the conditions recommended by Fire Chief Scott had been included in the requirements.

Chief Scott also said that the state fire marshal had authorized the fireworks sales, provided they meet certain specifications.

Three of the permits granted were for inside sales and the fireworks in such instances must be kept in glass cases. Vince's Food Center, T & T Variety Store and the Holmes Hobby Shop all received the blessing of the Council for inside sales and Lou Colla and Jack Chappel, operators of the Mobil Service Station were given the okay to sell 'crackers at Hamilton and Winchester on an open lot. Wire cages must be put up when the sales are made on the outside.

The Institute has provided red, white and blue window cards for those dry cleaners that are participating in the program

McKinnon in Hospital

Joseph M. McKinnon, 75, veteran Santa Clara County supervisor, who has represent-the Campbell area since 1926 as supervisor of the fourth district, is critically ill in O'Connor Hospital. He apparently suffered a recurrent attack of stomach ulcer. He underwent surgery Tuesday night and his case was further complicated by a heart condition.

Dust Flies With Baseballs at Ballpark

Little League baseball season is a happy time for local youngsters. But it does create some problems. And dust. And traffic hazards.

This was brought out Monday night at the City Council meeting by Herbert Bykowski, 310 W. Hamilton, who told the City Dads that because there is no through street to the Little League ball park on the Rosemary School property, motorists are forced to travel over his property to the field. These same motorists by driving too fast, he reported, stir up dust and endanger little children. The dust, he added, settles on the prunes in the adjacent orchard which also causes damage. He also said that surveyors had left unfilled chuck holes which added to the traffic hazards.

He wasn't complaining about Little League but he thought that some govenrmental body could assist in holding down the traffic as well as the dust.

The Council was sympathetic and suggested that Chief of Police Locke and the city engineer, Mark Thomas, look into the matter. Mayor John M. Chargin also suggested that the school district be informed, as the street by the school was not city property, but was used to get to the field which was on school grounds.

Sentenced To Death

Campbell Press Employee Recalls German Concentration Camp Days

It has been 13 years since he was sentenced to death in a German concentration camp.

But Keith Butterman, a printer at The Campbell Press for the past year and who with his wife and four children resides at 300 McGlincey Lane in Campbell, still recalls with a shudder those nightmarish months spent behind the barbed wire.

Now steadily employed at the trade he learned in Holland and busy in his off-hours with an ambitious "do-it-yourself" expansion program on the home he has purchased here, Butterman is fast-becoming "an average American citizen". A far cry from those years of World War II from 1940 through May, 1945, when the Germans overran his native Holland.

The Butterman family came to this country in 1953 and all four children, Judy, 13, Joyce, 9, Billy, 7, and Casey, 3, were born in Holland. They were able to come to the United States under the emigration quota and landed in this area mainly because Butterman's brother-in-law, Pete Friend, had been a resident of the San Jose area for five years and had sent glowing reports back to Holland.

VERY MUCH ALIVE . . . But 13 years ago Keith Butterman, a printer at The Campbell Press, was sentenced to death for his activities in the Dutch "underground" after the Germans had overrun his native Holland.—Campbell Press photo.

Since his arrival in this section, Keith has been employed for the most part in the printing trade, although for a brief interlude, he worked as a gardener for Bill Lloyd in Campbell. But printing was what he was trained in and liked to do and he has found that it has not been difficult to pick up where he left off in Holland. Although the language is different, the operation is basically the same whether it's a print shop in Amsterdam or in Campbell.

The Campbell Press was the fourth printing plant he has worked since his arrival here in 1953. He first was employed by the Valley Tag Co., in Ripon, then on to the Oakdale Leader in Oakdale and the Morgan Hill paper. In May, 1955, he came to work for The Campbell Press.

Printing Leads to Trouble

It was actually because of his printing activities in Holland that Butterman got in trouble with the Germans in 1943. The Germans had occupied the country since May, 1940, and Keith, along with many of his relatives, had been engaged in "underground" activities almost from the start of the German occupation.

Somehow for the first three years he was able to keep out of the German clutches but in May, 1943 he was finally arrested. He had evaded the enemy by hiding after he had organized a strike in three counties but his hiding place was finally uncovered and he was carted off to prison.

His first year as a German prisoner was spent in Hertogenbosch and it was there he was sentenced to death.

Butterman feels that it was the Germans liking for strong drinks and good cigars that made it possible for his sentence to be commuted. Through friends and relatives on the outside a number of influential Germans were plied with strong drinks and cigars to a good advantage. Soon Keith learned that instead of being shot he was to be sent to a German concentration camp.

At Dachau

He was in three such camps from then on until final liberation in May, 1945. His last camp was infamous Dachau.

Keith thinks that his love of music and his ability to play a number of musical instruments played a big part in his urvival.

Crazy About Music

"The Germans were crazy about music", he recalls. "In fact the head doctor seemed to have no feeling except for music. He was a "butcher" and could look on the worst suffering without a qualm. But when he heard fine music, be became a changed man and would be off into a different world."

At Dachau Keith was a member of the orchestra which was composed of some of the finest musicians in Europe. They played for all they were worth, for in many cases, it could mean the difference between life and death.

There were 35,000 prisoners in Dachau. The main camp was about 300 yards long and 150 yards wide with many smaller camps adjacent to it.

Kottern was another of the camps that Keith was in and the prisoners were used to make Messerschimits. All in all Butterman's recollections of the years spent under German dominance are not pleasant ones and he early made the decision that once the war was over he would come to America.

Liberated 1945

On April 28, 1945 (Keith will never forget that date) the American soldiers liberated Dachau and all other concentration camps. Again he was a free man and he was able once more to take up his trade as a printer. Much of his equipment, however, had been destroyed or lost and it was a tough job to get going once again. But he never lost sight of the goal of America and applied almost immediately to get on the emigration quota.

It was in 1953 that he received the final approval, for him and his family, now consisting of his wife and four children, to come to the U. S. They disposed of all their equipment and furnishings and sailed for America like thousands before them to start a new life.

During the horrible war years, many of Butterman's friends and relatives were killed. Something like 26½ million were prisoners of the Germans and suffered during the years that Holland was virtually a German state.

Brother-in-law Shot

Keith feels fortunate that he was able to come out alive and is happy that his life in America has turned out so well. Many were not so lucky. His brother-in-law for example, was shot by the Germans on May 1, 1945 just a few days before liberation.

Keith has come a long way, in miles and in his new life since that dark day in 1943 when he was sentenced to death.

As he looks very much alive at the full program of activities that now surround his family and plans for the future that they have made, it is difficult sometimes for him to recall that all this would have never been, had not his German captors been susceptible to bribes of strong liquor and good cigars.

No matter what the future brings forth to the Butterman family, he will never forget that dark chapter when he thought the end had come. America then was a dream and a prayer.

The prayers have been answered and it's a dream come true today at 300 McGlincey Lane in Campbell.—G. V.

G. B. Allen Dies In Auto Accident

George Badger Allen, 30, of Manchester Ave. in Campbell, was killed in an automobile accident early last Saturday when the car he was driving struck a cement truck headon and side swiped another.

Allen, a drug salesman for McKesson and Robbins, was returning from a sales trip at the time of the accident and it is believed he had fallen asleep at the wheel of his southbound auto just before it swerved across a double line on Bayshore highway near the Bell Haven underpass and struck the cement truck.

The accident took place about 3:20 a. m. and Allen was pronounced dead on arrival at Palo Alto Hospital.

A World War II veteran, Allen was a native of Ohio, served with a tank ballation in Europe. He moved to this area about four years ago and was a member of West San Jose Kiwanis Club, Allied Drug Travelers and Santa Clara County Pharmaceutical Assn.

He is survived by his widow, Beatrice, of Campbell, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Allen, Sr., a sister, Mrs. Carolyn Cameron and a brother, Spencer Allen, all of Springfield, Ohio, and another sister, Mrs. Nyle Strawser of Columbus, Ohio.

Services were conducted from Lima-Salmon-Erickson Memorial Chapel in San Jose at 11 a.m. Tuesday, with interment at Golden Gate National Cemetery in San Bruno.

Manuel F. Silva Succumbs at 73

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 this morning for Manuel F. Silva, 73, who died suddenly at his home, 46 South Second St., in Campbell last Monday.

A native of Azores Island, Mr. Silva has lived in the Campbell area for 2 years and employed by Prune and Apricot Growers Association for 14 years before his retirement in 1952. He was a member of Alum Rock Council No. 32, UPEC.

He leaves his widow, Mary G. Silva of Campbell; also two sons, Anthony and Manuel and a sister, Mary Silva, all of Farmington, San Joaquin County.

Rosary was recited last night at 8. Interment will be in Santa Clara Catholic Cemetery.

RURAL RAMPAGE results as the Feather River cuts through a secondary levee near Nicolaus, Calif., during floods which inundated rich farmland and drowned much livestock. Federal disaster funds, administered by the Federal Civil Defense Administration, were poured into the stricken area to restore vital public facilities such as bridges, hospitals, highways, water and sewer systems.

Members of The Campbell Press staff "lived it up" on Monday of this week through the courtesy of Mrs. A. T. Hill, of the Campbell VFW Auxiliary. Grateful for the publicity given the Auxiliary during the recent poppy sale, Mrs. Hill brought lemon pie and a basket of cherries to the office. Both items were thoroughly enjoyed by the entire crew at an "informal" afternoon tea. Mrs. Alys Riley and Mrs. Anita Jacobus "poured".

The finalists were evaluated first by their faculties, then by a panel of citizens in their regions and then by another panel of Bay Area leaders.

ficials who, he claims, played a big part in putting Allen across in this section of the county.

In a prepared statement to The Press, he said:

"I accuse Laurance Hill, superintendent of the Campbell Union High School District, William Henley, elementary school superintendent, D. M. Bagby, Cambrian school superintendent, and William Llyod and Doc Arends, high school district trustees of publicly using prestige of their offices to promote the candidacy of Bruce Allen. I feel this definitely injects partisan politics into our schools.

"As a parent and not as a candidate I feel that it is morally and ethically wrong. Because my oldest boy, James Vernon, will enter kindergarten at Hamilton School next fall this point is even more emphatically brought home to me."

Harris maintains that the California Teachers Association code of ethics specifically prohibits such action yet the CTA executive secretary endorsement of Allen was posted on the bulletin board. The Democratic candidate hopes to carry his appeal to the parents in the district by speaking to various groups and through other means.

Harris made his first accusation on television on election night and later on radio.

Health Officer Clamps Down on Dogs in County

Santa Clara County, including all cities, has been declared a rabies area by the State Department of Public Health. The action followed tests which established that a skunk that bit a boy at Alum Rock Park definitely had rabies, according to Dr. W. Elwyn Turner, county health officer.

Santa Clara County Board of Supervisors Monday took action requiring rabies shots for all dogs under county jurisdiction before dogs are licensed. License fees set up by the county are $2 if inoculated by a private veterinarian, and $3.50 if given by the county. The county fee was raised from $1.

Dr. Turner declared the anti-rabies program "the most serious matter I have brought before this board in a number of years."

Dr. Turner told The Press that he is now in the process of studying ordinances of the 13 cities in the county, with a view of appearing before the city councils of each city to ask for legistlation making rabies shots for all dogs mandatory. He said that only by taking such action can strict quarantine be avoided.

His appearance before the Campbell City Council has not yet been scheduled, but should be within a few weeks.

CETA SETS UP SJSC ...... SCHOLARSHIP FUND

NINE CADETS TO ATTEND SCHOOL

Nine Campbell High School cadets will attend the cadet summer school held on June 16 to June 29.

Two Exchanges in This Area to Get Nationwide Dialing

Nationwide direct distance dialing starts July 8 for San Jose telephone customers who have ANdrews 9 or ESsex 7 telephone numbers.

That's also the day the new dial telephone building on Foxworthy Road near Kirk Road goes into service.

Direct distance dialing means such places as Los Angeles, Sacramento, New York, Chicago, Denver, Washington, D. C., Portland, Oregon, and Houston, can be dialed directly by the caller. Al it takes is three extra spins of the dial.

The complete list of dialable points runs into the hundreds and will be mailed along with dialing instructions to the ANdrews and ESsex customers. Many other communities will be added to the list and the nationwide dialing program progresses across the country.

ANdrews and ESsex customers are the first in the San Jose area to get nationwide dialing, although several California communities already can dial their own calls across the country.

The rest of San Jose is due to get the nationwide dialing but just when, the telephone company isn't sure. Plans aren't that far along. Eventually, every telephone in the country will be equipped for nationwide dialing.

Electronic magic and a special cross-country numbering plan makes it possible for customers to dial their own long distance calls.

The dial equipment automatically puts the call through, keeps track of where the call goes, how long it lasts, and then figures up the charges.

All the caller has to do is twist the dial three extra times. Those spins send the call as far as the particular area of the country called. The regular phone number takes it the rest of the way.

VOTE 'YES' NEXT TUESDAY!

On next Tuesday, June 12, voters in the Campbell Union High School District will be asked to approve the acceptance of $1,500,000 in state aid in order to purchae three needed school sites for the district.

The State Allocations Board has already approved a loan of $230,000 for the purchase of one of the sites, contingent upon the results of the June 12 election.

The funds already approved will be used to purchase a 53-acre site that has already been selected, while the two other sites for new high schools will be located in the northeast or northwest portions of the district.

We think that it is absolutely necessary that the approval be given the state aid program. Economically speaking there is no other way to meet the growing needs of the district.

School district officials know that the schools will be needed within the next five years, if the present pace of new home construction continues.

We shudder to think how desperate the school housing situation will be, however, if the home building program should accelerate.

The assessed valuation of the district is not sufficient to enable purchasing of needed school sites. That point is basic.

It stands to reason that school sites can be purchased now for less than in the near future when the area is more extensively built up.

It makes sense to us, and we ar ecertain it does to you, that help from the state is necessary and an affirmative vote next Tuesday will allow the district to receive such aid.

At the present time there are 2513 students in attendance at our two high schools. By 1959 it is estimated that there will be be 4100. By 1958 the two schools will be at their full capactiy.

The state aid program was established for just such situations.

We unhesitatingly urge you to cats a "Yes" vote next Tuesday, June 12, fo racceptance of state aid.

ADVERTISING A TWO-WAY STREET

Statistics on national advertising for the last year just released by the Bureau of Advertising of American Newspaper Publishers Association, would seem to indicate a simple foolproof formula for industrial success: Just advertise plenty and you'll do mighty well.

The world's largest car maker, General Motors, spent the most on newspaper advertising, $62,500,000. Next came Ford, with $29,610,000 and Chrysler with $24,000,000. Other automotive firms, along with Proctor and Gamble, General Electric, National Dairy Products, American Tobacco and many more old-line establishments known to the public for generations, were also listed among the heavy advertisers.

But advertising is a two-way street, as every experienced businessman —and every newspaper office as well—knows.

The product better be as good as the picture is painted. Or else.

Misleading advertising of an inferior product can destroy a business as certainly as sound advertising of sound goods can build one.

By the same token, when newspapers accept misleading advertisements, such actions can fatally impair the most valuable asset a newspaper can have. . . the confidence of its reputable advertisers and of its readers.

A community newspaper such as The Campbell Press has a definite responsibility to its readers and to its community.

Granted that advertising is the life-blood of this newspaper as well as all others in the land, we cannot let the bars down. We owe it to the public.

As one authority put it: "Advertising the 'better' mousetrap will sell it, right enough—but it had better be better!"

OUT on the LIMB

George Vierhus

For a very good reason we use a typewriter almost exclusively in all our writing. We are not very proud of the fact but we find that few people can read our long-hand notes and we even have some difficulty with our penmanship once the notes "get cold".

But we are not alone in this poor penmanship field as far as The Campbell Press is concerned. Man for man there are three of us at The Press whose writing (?) places us in the poor, poor class of almost uncipherable scribbling.

Cliff Cassiday and Joe Anello join us in this very unselect group. There is much moaning and gnashing of teeth by others on the paper whenever a hand-written note by any one of us is turned in.

We don't care to say which one is the worst. We are all bad.

—o—

Sometimes these hastily scrawled notes written even for our own edification when translated come up an entirely different word than intended.

Shamefacedly we must admit that happened to us last week.

We noted in "On the Line" on the front page last issue that Mrs. Edith Brandt, local real estate agent, is now associated with the "Home Realty" in Willow Glen.

She is not with "Home" but with the ACME Realty Co. working with Bob Weirman of that agency.

As far as we know there is no "Home Realty" in Wlliow Glen. But, darn it all, when we were deciphering our scrawled notes "Acme" looked like "Home" to us.

We can prove it, if anyone cares to come in see us scrawl for the record.

So with this paragraph we have put Edith in the right spot.

—o—

Transcribing poper names from our own handwritten notes, as a rule does not give us any trouble. We learned a long time ago when we first started in the newspaper profession that one cannot be too careful with names. So we laboriously (if a typewriter is not handy) print out the names so there will be no mistakes made.

But we cannot vouch always for the writing of others who turn in names to us. As much as we try to verify the spelling, there are those that simply defy transcribing.

A case in point last week was the Little League rosters which we published on the sports page.

We worked with Guy Troedsen, Little League director, in a desperate effort to be as accurate as possible. The list of players we used had been copied apparently from the original signatures of the little guys themselves when they signed up. Our copy was readable, as a result, but some of the names had been recopied incorrectly.

We don't know how many mistakes were made in the names but you still have to give Guy and us an "E" for effort. One name we found out was wrong and we are happy to correct was that of Rich Gilbert, a member of the Campbell Stamp team. The list showed him as "Rich Gilpen".

We have kept the original list we used in our office for reference and for insurance.

The moral is, of course, that one can't be too careful when it comes to names. There is nothing so personal as a name.

A rose may smell the same if called by another name but, believe us, be sure to spell the new name correctly. And don't depend on handwritten signatures.

—o—

Recently in this column we sounded off about the loss of our hub caps from our Olds. We were pretty disgusted, for it marked the third time they had been taken. We felt sorry for our car, our self, our insurance company, and the thieves themselves. Not necessarily in that order.

We have learned since that there are other Olds owners locally who have had the same problem. This doesn't lessen the seriousness of it. In fact it emphasizes how far-reaching it has become.

We get pretty worked up over this and we think you will agree we have a right to be, despite the fact that the insurance company is paying the freight.

Norm Corvello, of the Campbell Hardware, told us that his hub caps have been taken eight times since he purchased his Olds in October. Once they were taken after a new set had only been on for an hour. Once they were taken in broad daylight on the street across from the fire station. And once, after he had carefully put locks on them, they were taken and the locks carefully placed by each wheel.

On the brighter (?) side of the picture, Evelyn Cassiday, Cliff's better half, reported that a fellow-teacher of hers recovered the hub caps for her car because she had the foresight to have her name scratched on the inside.

An alert passer-by took the license number of the car in which two young hooligans drove away after she had witnessed them taking off the hub caps in broad daylight near the Moorpark School. The culprits were later apprehended and the marked hub caps were found in their possession.

We wish that would happen more often.

PLANS FORMED FOR WEST VALLEY 'Y'

Santa Clara Valley YMCA Extension Committee of the San Jose YMCA Board meeting recently approved the first step in establishing a Valley wide branch. The committee was formed and the directive given at the last regular San Jose Board meeting, when the proposed plan of organizing the communities in the Valley under a representative Branch Board of Management was suggested.

Albert Tully, chairman of the County Extension Committee, said, "The formation of a Valley Branch is for the express purpose of forming a representative group of management which will be so concerned with the development of all the youth in the various communities it will be impossible for them to work at the low level of local politics and prejudices."

Immediate steps are being taken to secure local approval and support from YMCA Program Committee in Carmpbell, along with those in nearby communities.

COUNTY BUDGET REQUESTS TOP $35 MILLION

A record county budget request of $35,838,173 for the fiscal year 1956-57 was filed last week with the Santa Clara Board of Supervisors by Frank H. Thill, county executive. The total is up $5,056,896 over last year's adopted budget of $30,781,277.

In Thill's request a proposed increase in the county's building program accounted for the major part of the hike. He proposes that $5,173,476 be spent on building construction. This sum is in addition to the $5,150,000 bond issue voted last fall which is not listed in the budget figures.

The request lists $479,711 to be added to the jail project, and $127,000 for the adjacent criminal courts and district attorney's offices. Another request shows $1,221,388 for the hospital building program.

Thill aslo asked for $1,167,892 for a building contingency fund for other needed county structures. Money could be taken out of this fund to make up the large defeict expected in the $350,000 of bond money voted for the juvenile hall. Costs of this project are expected to range from $1 to 2 million.

The Board of Supervisors is now holding preliminary budget discussions and by the end of next week, June 15, will adopt a preliminary budget. This budget will be up for public hearing during July and following the hearings, a final budget will be adopted.

LAW IN ACTION

WRONGFUL DEATH

English courts used to refuse to measure loss of life in terms of money. But since 1846 English and American law makers have given certain relatives a right to seek damages in a civil suit for wrongful death. This is not a criminal action which the district attorney might prosecute, but a civil suit for damages.

Suppose an automobile driver kills Mr. Doe on purpose or through lack of due care. Then his heirs—Mrs. Doe and the two children, for example—may sue for damages (if Mr. Doe himself had not also brought on the crash).

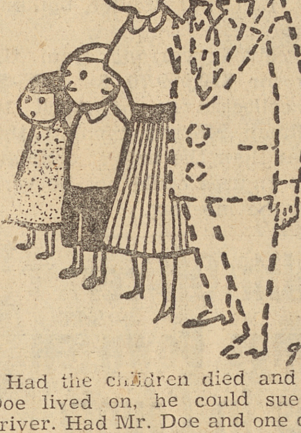
If the driver also perished, the heirs may sue his estate.

Heirs—such as children or a widow—may receive money damages to make up in part for benefits—earnings, services, comfort, and society, which they would have enjoyed had their father or husband, say, lived on.

Mr. Doe himself, dead or alive, may also bring a civil suit for damages to cover such things as medical expenses, loss of wages while injured, property damage, etc. If he dies the executor or administrator of his estate may sue for him.

There are thus two "causes of action" possible: (1) By the heirs, to recover for their loss, and (2) by the injured person, though dead, to recover for the property loss or damage caused him.

Who can sue for a wrongful death? In an adult's wrongful death, the heirs, or the executor or administrator of the estate as trustee for heirs, may sue. In a child's death, as a rule, the father as custodian, but sometimes the mother, may sue.



Had the children died and Mr. Doe lived on, he could sue the driver. Had Mr. Doe and one child been killed, Mrs. Doe could sue for the child's death; and both she and the remaining child could jointly sue for Mr. Doe's death.

Under the old law before 1846, the wrongdoer would profit from the death of an injured person, but obviously he may no longer legally do so.

Dave Buck Does It

No-Hit, No-Run Tilt Features First Little League Game Here Saturday

Dave Buck, classy hurler on the Campbell Stamp team in the Campbell Little League, started the 1956 league season in a grand style last Saturday when in the opening game he pitched a no run-no-hit game. The Stampers defeated the Campbell Lumber 3-0 in the first game. Buck struck out 12 and walked eight. Only one Lumberman hit the ball out of the infield.

Frank Testa, 3rd base, and Randy Sutton, short stop, were the big sticks for the Stampers. Each got a single and a double.

Jeff Goodere, on the mound for the Lumbermen, pitched a good game, striking out seven and allowing only six hits but Buck was not to be denied.

The game was scoreless until the last half of the fifth inning when Campbell Stamp pushed across the three runs, all unearned.

Second Game

In the second Campbell Little League game, Herb Maynard's team (still lacking a sponsor) defeated Western Gravel in a 9-0 shut-out. Lonny Raymond and John Zintz teamed up to pitch a 3-hitter for Raymond's outfit. John allowed only one hit in the three innings he worked while Lonnie struck out eight in his three innings.

Three on Raymond's club Mike DeVita, Hoot Meredith and Lonnie Raymond, collected two hits each while Howard Allen bagged three singles. DeVita slammed out a two run home run to left field in the sixth inning.

Cambrian Little League Starts Off

Mac's Market and Robins won their opening games in the Camden Little League played on the Rosemary School field last Saturday. The Camden league with four teams, a new addition to Little League in this area, will play its games on the Campbell Elementary School field and at Rosemary until their field is finished at the Steindorf School.

Mac's Market defeated the Methodist Men 14-2 and collected nine hits to the Methodists three. Al Brasile, pitcher and first baseman for Mac's slammed out the first homerun of the season for both Little Leagues. His slam cleared the centerfield with ease.

Bill Holland, Mac's catcher, had a perfect day at bat, getting four for four and driving in four runs.

Robins Win

The Robins bested the Northern California Construction Co., in a good hitting battle which ended with a 8-6 score. Spence Caudle, Robins right fielder, took the batting honors for the winners getting two for three. Bob Lampreda, NoCal catcher, led his teammates with three for four.

Bull riders can hang on only with loose rope—no knots or hitches—and must ride for eight seconds to qualify. Performances of the 39th annual Livermore Rodeo — "the world's fastest"—are scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Sutton Gets Top Honor

Coaches Name Three Campbell High Players to All-Star Baseball Team

Bob Sutton, star pitcher on the Campbell High School varsity baseball team, champions of the Santa Clara Valley Athletic League, has been selected as the SCVAL'S Most Valuable Player. Sutton headed the all-league baseball team picked by the coaches.

Two other Buc baseball players, Jerry Sutton, (no relation to Bob), infielder and Matt Musladin, outfielder, were also named to the mythical all-star outfit. Fremont High placed three on the team, James Lick had two as did Washington, Santa Clara and Mountain View each had one.

Sutton's coach, Mel Stein, credits his young hurler's fast ball and ability to vary his speed as the two main factors that made the star so outstanding on the mound.

During two seasons of league competition, Sutton has had no lossese registered against him and has won 11 contests. Included in these wins were four one-hitters three two-hitters and two three-hitters.

Sutton also topped the league this year in strikeouts with 59. He also led with his six wins and in innings pitched (40). During the entire season scouts from New York Yankees, Detroit Tigers and Pittsburgh Pirates watched the Buc hurler in action and observers feel certain that sooner or later he will wind up in the big leagues.

The high school coaches in picking their all-stars did away with individual positions of second base, third and shortstop and named infielders for those positions. Four players were tied for the three spots. Jerry Sutton was one of the four. He was second in the loop in runs batted in with seven in six games.

Matt Musladin was picked for the outfield without any question. Besides batting .286 in league play, Musladin was high man with seven stolen bases.

No Buc was named to the second all-star team but Wally Koontz, another Buc infielder, who turned in a stellar performance during the season, was given honorable mention.

Pool Open For Summer

The Campbell High School pool will be opened again through the summer. Pool hours will be from 1:30 to 4:30 in the afternoon. From 8 p. m. to 9:30 p.m., the pool will also be opened to the public. Swimming classes will be held in the evening before 8 p.m. Fees will be the same as last summer. Privilege cards may be obtained for a slight amount.

Rules will be posted on a large bulletin board in the pool area and anyone not abiding by the rules may be removed from the pool.

VIRGINIA GRATTAN

OFF TO HOLLAND

By Virginia Grattan

Editor's Note: Virginia Grattan, former Campbell High School and San Jose State College student, has been in Europe since last August. In the following article she describes her recent trip to Holland in her newly acquired '49 Opel.

We drove to Holland in my newly acquired Opel the weekend of April 20. The puropse was twofold. First to take my girl friend, Johanna, to Rotterdam for her ship to the United States. Secondly, to see Holland and the tulips. The group was composed of two of my office friends, Johanna and myself.

We left early Friday morning on the Autobahn and after about seven hours of driving were in Hol land. Across the border we found that Holland too, had a network of freeways, like the Autobahn, which link her main cities. Once on the highway it was only a few hours ride form Arnhem to the border to Rotterdam near the North Sea.

Dominated By Port

Rotterdam is dominated by its port which is one of the greatest in Europe, and which supplies over half the imports and exports of Holland. It opens on the North Sea and is port of call for many passenger lines besides freighters from all over the world. It was from Rotterdam that Johanna was to leave, and so we began looking for the harbor as soon as we entered the city.

We asked directions from a policeman passing by on a bicycle. Although he was carrying a flat of flowers on the back of his bicycle, he was most eager to help us find our way, and even led us to the docks, stopping traffic with one hand and with the other, holding the flat of flowers on the back of his bicycle. We crossed many waterways and waited for drawbridges to raise and lower into place. Finally we found the pier and left Johanna's trunk.

We had lunch in Rotterdam and then drove to the Hague about 15 miles away. On our way we passed near the little city of Delft, known for its blue porcelain china, and Gouda, known for its cheese.

The Hague is a city of 600,000. It is smaller than Rotterdam and has been the seat of Holland's government for centuries, although Amsterdam remains the capital of Holland, where the inauguration of King and Queen takes place. It is the home of the Peace Palace donated by Andrew Carnegie in 1913 as a monument to world peace and understanding, and also contains a wonderful little city known as Madurodam.

Typical Dutch Town

Madurodam is a typical Dutch town in miniature. It is a model city laid out in streets and canals and waist-high buildings in a little park at the Hague. It takes over an hour to walk through this miniature town, contributed to by many of the leading industries of Holland to give the visitor a better understanding of the country.

Madurodam portrays most dramatically the nature of Holland—a country risen from the sea. It shows Holland's level countryside and the windmills that pumped the water from this land—representing the one fourth of Holland which lies below sea level. This is the manner in which Holland has expanded. Dykes are built around an area. The water is pumped out and the land made arable. In this manner half of the Zuyder Zee has been drained, adding 900 square miles of land to the country. Moreover, Holland's coast is walled with 1,500 miles of dykes, which also enclose the mouth of the Zuyder Zee, with the intent of preventing such disasters as the 1953 floods, and protecting the hard-won land from the sea.

After visiting Madurodam we found a place to tay at the Hague and had a nap before dinner. Needless to say, all this traveling had worn us out. We had dinner at the hotel which had a wonderful cuisine.

Visit Peace Palace

Saturday morning we were up early to see the Peace Palace, and visit the Mauritshois museum which has many Rembrandts and other outstanding Dutch painters. Before leaving the Hague we went out to the nearby resort and fishing village of Scheveningen. Here, we stopped long enough for a look at the North Sea and the waves, a sight I hadn't seen in over eight months.

From the Hague we drove to Lisse in hopes of seeing the tulip parade, but found that due to the long winter it had been postponed. Although the vast fields of tulips were not in full bloom, those in the hot houses were.

At Keukenhof in the hot houses the hundreds of varieties of tulips made a magnificent array. There is no describing the many hues and varieties of flowers—some of which hardly resemble the tulip we know. The colors were so pure and the shapes so ethereal that they left us breathless.

We had coffee in the lovely Keuken hoff gardens and went on our way to Amsterdam. Leaving Kuekenhof we met a small boy with an enormous lei of yellow narcissus which we bought to decorate the car. We met many such cars in Holland that weekend. The narcissus bloom with the early tulips, and the hyacinths with the late ones. Some of the early blue and pink crocus were also in bloom in the fields, but no tulips. It was too early.

Arrive in Amsterdam

It was afternoon when we got to Amsterdam and so we started looking for a place to stay. We were parked on one of the main streets when a small boy came by on a bicycle and asked, in his delightfully accented English, if we were looking for a place to stay. He said he knew of a wonderful hotel and wanted to take us there. We were surprised for although this is customary in Italy, we did not expect it in Holland. But the hotel turned out to be a nice, family-sized establishment near Rembrandt Square on one of the small, quiet canals. So, we stayed.

After we got cleaned up and had lunch, we wanted to have a look around Amsterdam. So, I gave my companions a very wild auto tour of the city. Driving in Europe, at best, is a bit breath-taking, but in Amsterdam where more than half the population (by statistics) have bicycles, driving becomes very nearly a matter of life and death. At an intersection swarms of cyclists converge on the bewildered driver, not to mention the street cars. Many of the streets are one way and many are too small for automobile traffic. Then, there are canals and drawbridges to add to the confusion. Somehow we survived the adventure of threading our way through the city on this busy Saturday afternoon, and did get a look at the city's landmarks. But I was thoroughly kidded about my California driving in Amsterdam.

Through The Canals

The next morning we took a motor launch trip through the canals. Our guide, speaking in four languages, pointed out the important buildings and monuments, then took us out into the harbor for a look at this great port. Here ships are built and repaired in the great floating dry docks. Here ships come from many countries bringing coal and other supplies which Holland must import. And here is the home port of many Dutch ships which bring trade to the Dutch colonies around the world—ships sailing to Africa, Java and South America. Here you can find shops from all over the world. We even saw a Russian freighter come in while we were there. It was trailing its dark red flag from the stern. This ride through the harbar gave us a wonderful look at the shipping industry, backbone of the Dutch economy.

In the afternoon after pondering over a multitude of treasures from many lands in a little antique shop, and buying a few engravings, we drove up to Volendam, a fishing village and tourist trip on the Zuyder Zee.

Despite its appalling "commercialism" Volendam does give the visitor a look at the traditional Dutch costumes, and the quaint red-sailed fishing boats in the little cove. We had lunch here, took a few pictures which we had to pay for taking, and went away, a little bitter that we "had been taken". But the countryside is lovely here, grassy covered banks against the sea, and the villagers strolling or cycling along the roads. The women wear gay-colored dresses with white starched aprons and caps, and the men are in blue wool trousers, and all are in wooden shoes. It is the charm of the village that brings the visitors and the "commercialism".

We drove back to Amsterdam, took the ferry back across the harbor, and brought Johanna to the train station. She had decided to go back to Rotterdam by train, since her ship left on Tuesday and we wouldn't be able to see her off in any case.

Johanna To S. F.

At the train station in Amsterdam Johanna and I parted after many months of seeing Europe together. My course was back to Frankfurt, Germany and my job. Johanna's course was westward to San Francisco, and to become a part of my native land. After more than a year's wait she had gotten a visa and now she could embark on this great new adventure. I regretted not being able to see her off, and even more, not being able to welcome her to my country as she had welcomed me to her's eight months before.

The rest of us left Amterdam late in the afternoon, and were home in Frankfurt before midnight. And we didn't think of going anywhere else for nearly a week.

TRAINED CIVIL DEFENSE rescue workers can play just as important a life-saving role in peace as in war, as these men in tornado-devastated Standale, Mich., a suburb of Grand Rapids, recently demonstrated. Rescue volunteers are taught how to reach trapped victims safely and quickly through the Federal Civil Defense Administration's Olney, Md,, rescue school. (FCDA Photo)

MORELAND MUSINGS

E-WAS-A-ELU-TA Campfire girls passed rank last week. They were Trail-seekers, and now they are Wood-gatherers. Dr. L. C. Jauncey, of the central office came out to the home of Mrs. Helen Skalisky for the ceremony, and all the girls passed.

The troop will hold a farewell party June first for Sandra Turner and Judy Skalisky, who are moving out of the district.

Cub Scout Pack 39 made block prints for distribution at Scoutarama Friday and Saturday nights. Carl Cada was general chairman of the adult committee. Harry Blauser had charge of tickets and Aubry Tucker and C. W. Neale were the clean-up committee.

Helen Cole, Den mother of Den 1, had Gary Raines, Jim Cole, Don Rodgers, Richard Clark, and George Mednick at the booth.

Den 2, with Doris Cade, den mother, was represented by Gary Blauser, Richard Cade, Mike Maggi, Danny Neale, Glen Wolfram, Bob Walker and Terry Sanchez.

Campfire troop E-Was-A-Elu-Ta passed rank from Trail seekers to Wood-gatherers recently. Mrs. Helen Skalisky, co-leader, invited the troop and Dr. L. C. Jauncey of the central office to her home for the examination.

The Citizen's Advisory Committee picnic was a roaring success. The committee had planned for about a hundred, and well over two hundred attended. Since it was a pot-luck, and every new group brought contributions of tamale pie, tossed salad, garlic bread and what-have-you, there was plenty of food.

The crowd began to gather about one o'clock, and at 8:30 games were still going on. It was the first community get-to-gether Moreland and El Quito Park had attempted. Strawberry Park was also represented.

The Citizen's Advisory Committee meeting to be held in the teacher's room at Moreland June 4th, 8 p.m., will be concerned with the problem of books and the junior high school child.

There are no lockers at Moreland. The children move from room to room during the day. Especially at lunch or physical education period, the books get pretty rough treatment. The Citizen's Advisory Committee hopes that somebody will come up with a practical suggestion to overcome this problem. It also expects that there will be other problems presented. All citizens are welcome.

Cub Scout Pack 39 made block prints for distribution at Scoutarama. Carl Cada was general chairman of the adult committee. Larry Blauser had charge of tickets and Aubry Tucker and C. W. Neale were the clean-up committee.

Cubs Gary Raines, Jim Cole and Don Rodgers assisted from Den 1.

Den 2 was represented by Gary Blauser, Richard Cade, Mike Maggi, David Maggi, Danny Neale, Glen Wolfram, Bob Walker and Terry Sanchez.

Dennis Dooley, Ken Carpenter John Hardesty, Roger Horman, Dick Taylor, Gary Smith and Ken Hurd came from Den 3.

Den 4 sent Greg Patrick, Paul Webster, Steve Smith, Rodney McNair, Doug Straight, John Shoenenberger, Roland Coe, and Steve Brydon.

Den 5 was represented by Dennis Osaki, Jim Mayo, Ron Shirley, and Jim Walker.

Arthur Patershall, Allen Patershall, John Webster, Dick Bernal, D. H. Ford, Tom Upchurch, Aubry Tucker and Don Thompson represented Den 6.

The prints represented all the techniques and topics the cubs have worked with. There were leaf prints, spatter prints, potato prints, and linoleum prints, depicting Micky Mouse, Christmas cards, Boy Scout mottos, the American flag and animals.

QUITO QUORNER

Mrs. Peterson's 4th grade and Miss Peacock's 4th and 5th grade went to Santa Clara University, Mission Santa Clara and Stanford recently. Father Gordon conducted the tour at Santa Clara University.

Mmes. James Steele, Herman Azevedo, Ben Broyles, Joe McCauley, Earl Herzberg and John Davis also went on the trip and assisted with the picnic lunch held in a Palo Alto park.

Girl Scout Troop 205 camped out overnight near Alum Rock recently. They left Friday night after supper, and slept overnight at the Lion's Den, a cabin belonging to the Lion's Club. In the morning they cooked breakfast, then packed a lunch and went for a day-long hike. They returned to the cabin to cook supper, then came home to Quito after supper.

Patrol leader Jackie Greensides, whoe birthday it was, was given a surprise birthday shower at the cabin.

Jeanette Byrd, Earlene Paratore, Edwina Spiker, Kathy Whaley, Sandy Woods, Pam Barnett, Betsy Lassen, Bonnie Bradley, Barbara Hollis, Penny Wolpern and Cheryl Yearwood were the scouts who packed sleeping bags and attended.

Cub Scout Pack 35 was entertained by Pack 4 in a play featuring Santa Clara Valley Indians at its last pack meeting. Under the leadership of Denner Gerald Haymond, assistant Denner Michael Drees, they put on an authentic skit. All those who attended the pack meeting were in Indian costume.

Den 1, with John Rehling, Denner and Tim Fox, assistant Denner, sent Doug Moisenco and Bill Christensen who made bucking bronco plaques, and Jim Jessup who made a lion.

SAN TOMAS SUMMARY

The last Pack meeting of Cub Pack 30 was Hobo night. Cubs and parents dressed as hoboes enjoyed box lunches in the San Tomas Cafetorium. After supper they enjoyed group singing, then the awards were given.

In Den 2 Paul Eades got his Wolf badge.

In Den 3, Eddie Bush got his assistant Denner stripe, and Mike Duval his Denner stripe. Larry Knoop, Arlyn Anderson, Mike and Pat Duval got their one year pins.

Some bids have been received on the Lovell Ave. bridge according to J. B. Enochs in the County Engineer's office. Bids will be received until June 11. Then, after the successful bidder has been notified, he has 30 days before he is required to start work.

Mrs. Estapa's Bluebirds gave an elaborate program at their Mother's Tea, held in the San Tomas Cafetorium.

Karen Estepa, Marilyn McKee, Susan Hillier and Kay Bolling danced a ballet. Nancy Gardner and Charline Reich gave piano solos.

Vickie Peterson gave a tap dance. Ellen Hill and Phyllis Robinson danced a "Horse-dance" for comic relief. The whole group danced a folk dance.

The girls presented their leader with a cup and saucer. They gave camellia plants to their sponsors, Mmes. Wm. Rich, Warren Hill and Philip Nagel.

Pacific Telephone Installs Coaxial Cable for LA-SF

Pacific Telephone last week put into service a new coaxial cable that will swell the telephone and television facilities between San Francisco and Los Angeles.

The $16,000,000 cable, which has been under construction for some three years, opens 600 telephone circuits between the two cities.

It will also be able to carry two television programs in each direction. Only the telephone paths went into service now. The cable will start handling television this August, in time for the Republican National Convention in San Francisco.

T. K. Nordheim, telephone company manager in San Jose, said the new cable was designed not only to relieve the present facilities, which are operating at capacity, but to meet the continually growing volume of long distance calls up and down the Pacific Coast.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL CAFETERIAS FEED MORE THAN 2000 EACH DAY

Few parents can visualize their school district as being in the position of operating a successful mass feeding system, but the cafeteria program amounts to just that. In addition, it insures youngsters of a warm meal at noon and nutritional protection for needs of growing young bodies.

The monthly report for January is a case in point. During that month, the nine cafeterias in operation on 21 days served a total of 5,228 meals for a daily average of 2,440—an enviable record for a more-than-modest public restaurant.

Statistics show that the cafeteria program is self-supporting and does not require investment of public funds—tax money—for operational needs.

A by-product advantage secured by the program is "employment" of selected pupils who perform nominal services in exchange for meals. While to adults this may seem a minor point, for youngsters who are unable to purchase meals at even the low cost they are offered for family financial reasons, it is a means of giving them an opportunity to gain their lunch in the American way—value received for services rendered.

A look at the statistics is impressive.

During the month, Campbell Elementary School served 14,557 lunches, and as trustees point out, "trying to fill up a seventh or eighth grader at mealtime is a chore for a family, let alone a whole schoolful of them!" Included in the total were 545 lunches served adults. For the month, cash received came to $3,584.

Cherry Lane School served 3,529 lunches, all pupils, and 220 adults for a grand total of 3,884 meals. Revenue was $983. Cypress School served a total of 6,164 lunches, including 5,837 to pupils, with revenue of $1,619.

Dover School, which started to use its new cafeteria in March, served no meals in January. Hamilton School served 6,282 lunches during the month., including 6,020 to pupils, with gross revenue of $1,598. Monroe School served 3,067 lunches which resulted in income of $804, while Moorpark School provided 4,920 lunches, including 4,755 served pupils, with revenue of $1,208.

Quito School cafeteria served 3,497 lunches in January with revenue of $885, Rosemary School served 3,189 lunches with income of $826, and San Tomas School served 5,708 lunches, including 5,435 to pupils, and income was $1,444.

An interesting sidelight of the cafeteria meal program was the fact that in addition to the lunch activity, which has its cost reimbursed to the district, a total of 29,034 half pints of milk were served alone—or 1,814½ gallons of "nature's perfect food."

Extreme care with which the food program is operated is shown by the January financial statement which indicates that income for the month from all sources was $17,545.71, while expenditures in the same month amounted to $16,632.13. Month in and month out, the totals reverse as food orders and bills balance out. (Educator, May, 1956.)

PLANNING ON PLANTING?

GARDENER'S CHECK LIST

By The California Association of Nurserymen

Reminders

1. Fertilize Rhodendrons, if they need it, and Azaleas and Camellias with an acid plant food as soon as they finish blooming.
2. You'll get better roses and many more of them if you adopt a regular program of fertilizing. Ask your nurseryman to give you his recommendations for your area.
3. Container grown shade trees can still be planted.
4. Don't forget California native plants. Many of the native shrubs are drought resistant and have great ornamental value.
5. Watch lawns for evidence of lawn moths—your nurseryman can suggest a suitable control.

Hibiscus

A breath of tropical isles will enter your garden with the lush, showy Hibiscus. Some grow as an evergreen shrub and others as hardy perennials. If the climate in your locale isn't warm enough for the Hibiscus, the California Association of Nurserymen says, you can learn to grow the Hibiscus successfully by studying your own particular climate and correcting it to suit this shrub's needs.

In the cooler areas of Central and Northern California where there's light frost you will probably not want to plant the evergreen species of this shrub in the open garden. Try it in sheltered spots——a southwest corner of an L-shaped building, or near a solid wall facing south or west. The wall will reflect sun and transmit head from the building to the plants.

One of the perennial species of the Hibiscus (H. syriacus) Rose of Sharon is generally a hardy grower in all parts of the state. It is deciduous in winter and comes back in Spring, blooming from mid-summer on. It should be planted in the sun in cooler areas, but in part shade in warmer sections.

The Color range available in these two Hibiscus species makes them very worth while plantings. The Tropical Hibiscus features six-inch broad flowers in single and double forms of pale yellow to amber, white to shell pink and rose and on to vermillion. Rose of Sharon's flowers are single or double, hollyhock-like, three inches across in all the colors of its cousin plus the bluish-purple shades.

For best blooms, water your tropical Hibiscus often — daily showers are good and sprinkling the foliage will help. Maintain soil moisture at root level by thorough soakings. Feed your Hibiscus plants regularly, too, and in the warmest months provide protection for the roots and help retain moisture in the soil with a mulch of leaf mold. Prune and pinch to encourage many growing tips—as you do with Fuchsias.

Nurserymen offer Hibiscus in many varieties and colors. Very easy and very popular is Brilliant, also called San Diego Red, which blooms profusely in vivid red. A blend of cerise, coral and yellow in single blooms is borne on the Kamapuaa and the flowers of Butterfly, a free-blooming variety, are yellow. Coral Beauty is rose pink; Kate Sessions, amber pink;! and Jigoro is a double bloom in pink, amber and copper.

Some of the outstanding varieties include Crown of Bohemia, a spectacular double Hibiscus with many-petaled yellow orange flowers with tints of copper on the outer petals. Snowy white blooms appear on the Arnottianus while a flaming red pistil dots the center of each blossom—very striking blossoms.

Daisies For Cut Flowers

High on the list of outstanding cut flowers for summer is the Daisy, for this perennial is a hardy grower and a prolific bloomer, offering a great variety of blossom types and colors.

One of the newest varieties in the Shasta group is the T. E. Killen, which won an Award of Merit from the Royal Horticulture Society in England. Its flowers are six inches across and very long lasting when cut. Margaret Murray is another recent Shasta introduction with large flowers, strong stems and an early-blooming habit.

Horace Reed has always been a popular Shasta variety since its introduction. Its flowers resemble Asters. Popular also are the yellow, golden yellow and white blooms borne on the Marguerite Daisy plants.

If you fancy colored Daisies, you can have them too, says the California Association of Nurserymen. Among the Michaelmas Daisy group are the Little Pink Pyramid with rose pink blooms; Plenty, clear pale blue; and Red Sunset, a strong reddish rose color. Orchid pink flowers appear on Festival and the variety Eventide bears rich violet blue blooms.

Other popular Daisy species include the Northland Daisies and the Transvaal Daisies from South Africa. Most Daisies are hardy plants, generally disease resistant and very easy to care for. When you're at your nurseryman's next time ask to see his selection of Daisies. For outstanding summer garden performances you just can't beat the Daisy.

Asters

As an annual, perennial and shrub the Aster is an outstanding garden performer.

The shrub, Aster fruticosus, makes a fine hillside or dry garden planting; the perennial Stokes Aster (Stokesia laevis) can be treated as a permanent member of your garden border and in bouquets it combines well with other cut flowers. Another perennial Aster, the Hardy Aster, often called Michaelmas Daisy, produces a greater profusion of daisy-like flowers, than the annual Aster and is a fine selection for backgrounds, combination plantings or, in dwarf form, rock gardens.

In all these various forms the Aster is a hardy plant, preferring sun and requiring only a minimum of care, says the California Association of Nurserymen. And the varieties and species available mean a great assortment of bloom colors and forms. In the Hardy Aster clan there are many more species and varieties, blooming in blues, pinks, purples, red with yellow or orange centers. Among these types are the Wonder of Stafa (Aster Fricarti) and the New England Aster, plants that reach about three feet, and the low growing Alpine Daisy, only six to 10 inches high.

Stoke Aster blooms in blue, purplish-blue or white daisy-like flowers and grows to one and a half feet. The Shrub Aster grows into a rounded bushy plant three to four feet high and three feet wide. Its flowers are lavender with yellow centers. Dependable and long-living—and, above all, easy to care for—the Aster will gladly serve as the basic planting in your garden.

Driving Cars In Passing Lanes Causes Accidents

Driving in the passing lane on multi-lane highways and driving too slow on two lane roads are serrious accident-causing violations of the California Vehicle Code, says the Highway Patrol.

"With the approach of summer, California traffic is expected to reach an all time high", declared Patrol Commissioner B. R. Caldwell. "In order that our highways may accommodate with safety the heavy traffic volumes anticipated, there must be stricter obedience to the traffic rules.

"It is essential that all motorists accept the responsibility of not impeding or hampering traffic," Caldwell continued. "There are far too many accidents caused by drivers traveling too slow and by those who persist in staying in the passing lanes illegally.

The Patrol intends to continue its enforcement efforts against all violators but will emphasize action to stop driving in the wrong lane and the slow road blocking type of driver."
